SUPPORTING THE AGROECOLOGICAL TRANSITION THROUGH LIVING LABS NETWORKS

The SUNRISE project, part of the Agroecology Partnership, is working to support the transition towards more sustainable, resilient and innovative agricultural systems across Europe.

With Living Labs across 10 European countries, SUNRISE connects people, knowledge and experience to support a more sustainable, resilient and innovative agricultural future.

SUPPORTING THE AGROECOLOGICAL TRANSITION THROUGH LIVING LABS NETWORKS

Through field trials and technology transfer, the project supports farmers in adopting sustainable solutions that enhance productivity while protecting the environment. These Living Labs act as Local Lighthouses, demonstrating successful practices that can scale up to European Lighthouses, promoting agroecology across the continent.

Together, the project partners are paving the way for a more sustainable, innovative, and resilient agricultural sector – empowering farmers to lead the green transition in Europe.
